EUBANK — Two people over 60 and a 26-year-old were arrested in Pulaski and Lincoln counties Friday and charged with methamphetamine-related crimes.

An investigation into drug trafficking led Eubank and Science Hill police to arrest Eddie Paul Harris, 64, of 450 Sims Road in Lincoln County; and Amanda Roberts, 26, of 125 East Sandidge Road in Eubank, Lincoln Sheriff Curt Folger said.

Harris was charged in Pulaski County with first-degree trafficking of a controlled substance, second-degree possession of a controlled substance and having a prescription not in a proper container, Folger said.

Roberts was allegedly selling methamphetamine with Harris and was charged with first-degree trafficking of a controlled substance, Folger said.

A search warrant was then executed at Harris' Sims Road home in Lincoln County, leading to the arrest of Elizabeth Hodge, 69, of the same address, Folger said.

"She attempted to hide the meth by throwing it in the stove," Folger said. "But we got it out before it got burnt."

Hodge was charged with first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance, tampering with physical evidence and possession of drug paraphernalia by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office.

Lincoln County charges were also brought against Harris following the search of his home: first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance; complicity to tampering with physical evidence; and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

Folger said approximately $3,500 and 6-8 grams of methamphetamine were confiscated during the search, along with "some other items possibly that had been stolen and traded."

Harris and Roberts bonded out of the Pulaski County jail on $15,000 unsecured bonds. Hodge bonded out of the Lincoln County Regional Jail on a $5,000 cash bond.

STANFORD — James Matthew Robinson was found guilty of 11 sexual crimes and Timothy Robinson was found guilty of three sexual crimes by a Lincoln County jury April 17.

The jury gave the two brothers from Kings Mountain the maximum possible sentences for their crimes. Matthew Robinson received a life sentence and a 150-year sentence; Timothy Robinson, who is already serving a 20-year sentence for other sexual crimes, received a life sentence and a 70-year sentence.

"First and foremost, our prayers are with the victims," prosecutor Carol Hill said after the case ended STANFORD — A Lincoln County couple known for their historical preservation work and development of downtown Stanford businesses received the Citizen of the Year award at the county's annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night.

But it was the winner of the chamber's Humanitarian Award who got a standing ovation for what she did to save a small child's life.

The Humanitarian Award winner, Kallie Bailey, was introduced by the girl she helped save, Paisley Gay.

Standing on tip-toes to get close enough to the podium mic, Gay told the audience how she had been hospitalized in April 2012 because of E. coli "making her kidneys sick."

Gay said was heavily dependent on dialysis to stay alive until Dec. 10, 2013, when doctors successfully transplanted one of Bailey's kidneys into Gay.

"I knew Kallie mostly from her pretty singing at church, but I didn't really understand why she was doing that for me," Gay said. "What I know now is that God brought us together because her kidney was perfect for me."

After taking a moment on stage to wipe a tear away, Bailey said she had no adequate words, but that she loves Gay and believes "God

$6M in Ky budget for Lincoln roads

By Victoria Aldrich

valdrich@schurz.com

Lincoln County will receive more than $6 million in funding for road improvements and upgrades over the next seven years under the state road plan approved by legislators during the 2014 general session.

Persistence was critical to getting five projects approved in Lincoln County at a combined cost of $6,079,839, according to Judge-Executive Jim Adams. The No. 1 priority, he said, is moving a section of Goshen Road this year from its intersection with U.S. 27 to a new site across from the Walmart Supercenter stoplight in Stanford.

"It's pretty much a mess," Adams said. "We need turn lanes all of the way through the area and to close as many of the entrances and exits as we can."

Since no state funds were available for the $850,000 project, Adams said it likely will be rolled into a $10,439,839 five-year plan to widen U.S. 27 from Ky. 590 to Bell Street in Stanford. A $1,439,839 High Priority Projects-funded redesign will begin this year. Right-of-way planning will take place in 2018 at $1.4 million, and utilities relocation will be $1.1 million in 2019.

Hamm receives miracle gift

By Melanie Hafley, sister, and Frances Click, Trust For Life Liaison

63 year old Mike Hamm, a native of Danville, husband to Beth, father to Michael, Jay and Charlie and grandfather to seven, son of Lois and the late Paul, brother to Melanie Hafley of Stanford and Mary Bell of Danville and friend to many will tell you that he has been blessed beyond adequate words.

After a two year aggravating cough with decreased stamina and energy, a Pulmonologist in London, Ky., diagnosed Mike with Idiopathic Pulmonary Fibrosis in March 2013. Follow-up continued at Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tenn. Although still able to work and use intermittent oxygen most days, changes began to happen quickly that fall. Various challenges (distance from his Laurel County home, insurance and continued rapid health decline) found him in the care of Jewish Hospital in Louisville. By Nov. 25, 2013, Mike was using high flow continuous oxygen and unable to do minimal things for himself without maximum assistance.

December 1st began the three days of intense testing and studies for the possibility of being placed on the organ transplant waiting list. He then met with the surgeon on December 9th and was told that his condition was grave and the only way he would survive would be to have a double lung transplant.

Mike went back to his London, Ky., home at the top of the waiting list on December 9th, meaning that he was severely ill. His sister, Melanie, says "I just had a really bad feeling. Beth called me at 11:30 to give encouragement to me and I told her that I was really worried and heart broken. I know that I needed to be a strong support system for my family, that Beth didn't need to carry it all. The only thing that I could do was 'hit my knees' and ask God to hear my heart's desires for his healing. I prayed for the donor and their family, as I knew that this would be our answer." The miracle happened! On December 10th at 12:30, just 22 hours after being placed on the transplant waiting list, Mike received the precious phone call ... that they had a match for his second chance for another day, week, month and year with his family and friends.

A new birthday celebration will be held each December 11th in this Hamm family. Mike is recuperating well and getting stronger and living each day to the fullest because someone cared enough to give the Gift of Life. Knowing that thousands can wait for years on their life-saving gift, this miracle is even more precious! We ALL need to be willing to share the Gift of Life with others. Please say 'YES' to placing your name on the organ and tissue Registry when you get your state driver's license or ID made at your county Circuit Court Clerk's office or on line at www.donatelife.org or call 1-866-945-5433. ## Highland Methodist Church news

Sunday, April 20, was a glorious Easter Sunday at the Highland United Methodist Church.

Services began at the cemetery with an Easter sunrise service which was followed by an Easter breakfast prepared by the men.

The adult Sunday school class was taught by Heloise Reed.

Worship services began early at 10:45.

Easter lilies were provided by Violet James, Buddy and Frankie Young and Rev. Don and Doris Scillee.

Several visitors were present. Some of them were Jimmy and Betty Dye from Louisville; Greg and Missy Graham and daughter, Natalie, and Missy's parents, Ron and Carol McIlquham, from Murfreesboro, Tenn. They are friends of Dawn and Scot Cheetham. Dawn's son, Isaac, was also present. Heloise Reed had several family members; granddaughter, Christy, and Christy's son, Anthony, and his family. Jourdan and Zack Frankenger from Nicholasville worshipped with us, too.

Rene' Wood requested that a friend, Maxine Bond, be added to the prayer list, and Mike McKenzie, requested that his cousin, Keith Cantrell, be added also. There was also and unspoken request.

Good reports were given concerning Bob Gourley and Gary Laswell.

After worship the children enjoyed an egg hunt and picture time. They also passed out Easter pencils to everyone. These were provided by Dawn Cheetham.

Our special service consisted of special scriptures being read which were then followed by a choir song relating to those scriptures.

Readers were Shelby Reed, Chaz Garcia and Mike McGuffey.

Soloists were Rebecca Garcia, Dawn Cheetham and Doris Scillee. Rebecca's song was, "I Need No Other Argument." Dawn's was, "It's Still The Cross," and Doris' song was, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." Some Holy Land scenes were

Two additional choir specials were, "Who Am I," and "Heaven For Me."

Other choir members were Ron and Ellen Hunkins, Buddy and Frankie Young, Chaz Garcia, Carrie McKenzie, Janice Smith, Betty Jo Singleton, Heloise Reed, Iva Young, Kim May, Don Scillee, and Joe Hutchison (sound man, too).

Scot Cheetham designed and composed the bulletin and did the scene presentation.

A message followed with Rev. Scillee detailing further Biblical Easter scenes and facts.

Join us at the Highland United Methodist Church each week at 10 and 11 a.m. as we study scriptures and worship the Lord.

From A1

nesses on Monday. Among those witnesses were five minor children who testified about sexual acts performed on them by the defendants.

Bruce Singleton, the attorney for Matthew Robinson, presented the case for the defense, calling six witnesses, including Matthew Robinson himself.

Singleton recalled Mary Elizabeth Crow, a woman who lived with Matthew Robinson for 13 years and testified for the prosecution on Wednesday.

He questioned her about being interested in marrying Matthew Robinson and how she previously didn't believe Matthew Robinson had done what he was accused of.

Crow admitted to both accusations, but said she no longer wants to marry Matthew Robinson.

Singleton also called Teresa Robinson, the ex-wife and girlfriend of another Robinson brother — Mark Robinson — to testify that multiple children who testified about sexual abuse had "bad" reputations for truth-telling.

Three children were called to the stand to offer similar testimony about the children's "bad" reputations.

When Matthew Robinson took the stand, Singleton asked him about the allegations of sexual abuse against him.

"Did you ever, at any time, have any type of sexually touching of any kind with (a minor boy who testified in the case)?" Singleton asked.

"No sir," Matthew Robinson replied.

"Did you do anything, did you touch him in any sexual way at all, ever?"

"No sir. I would never do that. I'm better than that."

Later in the same line of questioning, Singleton asked Matthew Robinson about another specific boy he was accused of sexually abusing.

"Have you ever at any time touched or had any kind of sexual contact with (the boy)?" Singleton asked.

"No sir," Matthew Robinson said. "I'm not that kind of guy. I don't do that (with) kids."

During her cross-examination, Hill latched onto that comment from Matthew Robinson.

"(Talking about one of the boys in the case), you said, 'you're not that kind of guy; you'd never have sex with kids,'" Hill said.

"Right," Matthew Robinson replied.

"What do you consider a kid?"

"Under 18."

"Under 18?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"You've never had sex with anyone under 18?"

"No, ma'am; never."

"Do you know who (a specific woman) is?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Who is she?"

Matthew Robinson identified the girl as having a family connection to him.

"Have you ever had sex with her?"

"No, ma'am."

When the defense rested its case, Hill successfully argued to have the woman in question, who is now 28 but said she was 3 years old when she began to have sex with Robinson men, brought to the stand to impeach Matthew Robinson's testimony.

Judge David A. Tapp allowed the woman to testify, but only narrowly on the fact that she had had sex with Matthew Robinson and that the sex occurred while she was under 18 years of age.

"Do you know the defendant, James Matthew Robinson?" Hill asked the woman.

"Yes, ma'am," the woman replied.

"... Do you see him in the courtroom here today?"

"Yes."

"Could you point him out to us?"

"He is to my left. I would rather not —"

"OK. You saw him as you were walking in? That is James Matthew Robinson over there?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Did there ever come a time that James Matthew Robinson had sex with you?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"And when he had sex with you, were you under 18 years of age?"

"Yes, ma'am."

Closing arguments

After the defense rested, Stacy Coontz, the attorney for Tim Robinson, suggested to the jury that allegations of anal sex made by a boy during Monday's proceedings were made up to please the boy's role model.

"One of those people that asked (the boy) about (Timothy Robinson) was (KSP) Detective (Rodney) Wren. (The boy) told you all that he wanted to be a police officer just like the detective and when he grows up, he wants to help people," Coontz said. "According to (the boy), Detective Wren has been a big influence on him. So, when he was asked by the officer about his (Timothy Robinson), (the boy) said what he thought would please this man who has become his role model."

Coontz told the jury the Commonwealth failed in their attempt to remove "reasonable doubt" about what happened.

"I don't believe, when you get to consider everything, that you will find the Commonwealth has proved any of this against Timothy Robinson beyond a reasonable doubt," she said.

Singleton strongly encouraged the jury to use definitions provided in the jury instructions for what specific acts were.

"Ask, 'what was the (sexual) performance that we're complaining about? ... What about this constituted a sexual performance?'" he said. "Stay locked with these definitions."

During her closing argument, Hill dismissed as "ridiculous" Coontz's suggestion that a boy would have made up something like being "anally raped" just to make a role model happy.

The jury, she argued, needed to focus on justice for the children who were sexually abused.

"Here's the story: there's a lot of peripheral stuff that went on, but the bottom line is five children came in here. You saw them; you heard them. You are able to take all their body language, what they said, and evaluate that," Hill said. "And I think that you'll find they were victims."

Sentencing

James Matthew Robinson was found guilty on the following charges and sentenced by the jury to the following prison terms:

- One count of use of a minor in a sexual performance for touching a minor girl's breasts and vagina in the presence of an audience (20 years)
- Three counts of use of a minor in a sexual performance for partially unzipping his pants, grabbing three minor boys and simulating oral sex in the presence of an audience (20 years each)
- Two counts of use of a minor in a sexual performance for having a minor boy and minor girl enter a bathroom and strip naked (20 years each)
- Two counts of first-degree sexual abuse for physically touching a minor boy and a minor girl on their privates (10 years each)
- Two counts of first-degree sexual abuse for physically touching two minor girls on their privates (five years each)
- One count of first-degree sodomy for having deviant sexual intercourse with a minor boy (life sentence)

Tapp granted a directed verdict on three charges against Matthew Robinson — essentially dismissing the charges — due to a lack of evidence.

Hill said she didn't wind up with testimony concerning those charges because of the nature of having juvenile witnesses.

"I basically had five juvenile witnesses and with the pressure of being on the stand, some information did not come out that I had anticipated," she said. "In the whole scheme of things, it was very minor and I wasn't going to push my witnesses and try to think of another way to ask it to get information that I was under the impression that they had."

Timothy Robinson was found guilty on the following charges and sentenced by the jury to the following prison terms:

- One count of first-degree sodomy for having deviant sexual intercourse with a minor boy (life sentence)
- One count of incest for having deviant sexual intercourse with a minor boy (50 years)
- One count of use of a minor in a sexual performance for having deviant sexual intercourse with a minor boy while in the presence of an audience (20 years)

The jury opted to have all year-based sentences run consecutively, giving Matthew Robinson a total of 150 years and Timothy Robinson a total of 70 years. Under state law, no other sentences can run consecutively with a life sentence, meaning the year-based sentences will run concurrently with the life sentences.

A sentencing hearing for the Robinson brothers has been scheduled for 10 a.m. June 13. Hill and Coontz said they believe both brothers will first become eligible for parole 20 years into their sentences.

Wednesday proceedings

During the prosecution's case on Wednesday, attorneys battled over what could and could not be presented to the jury.

The possibility of a mistrial arose briefly in the morning, when the court began looking into a questionable text message that was sent Tuesday night to Stacy Akers, a paralegal working for the prosecution.

The text message read in part that the sender had heard that a child gave testimony against Timothy Robinson, one of the two brothers on trial.

"I know one of the jurors," the message read, before continuing, "They bragged how well he did."

Jurors are not allowed to discuss the case with anyone outside of the courtroom. The sender of the text, a foster parent who used to care for a child in the Robinson family, was summoned to the Lincoln County courtroom to explain the text.

The foster parent said she had communicated poorly in her text message and the "they" did not refer to any jurors, but rather to the child who gave testimony and that child's current foster parents.

The foster parent clarified that she knows someone who she believes was in the jury pool but did not get selected for the case.

After the foster parent had been questioned twice concerning the text, prosecutor Carol Hill and Bruce Singleton — the attorney for the other brother on trial, James Matthew Robinson — both said they had no objection to proceeding with the case.

But Stacy Coontz, attorney for Timothy Robinson, said she wasn't satisfied with the foster parent's answers.

"Other than the bald statement, 'I disagree,' do you have anything to offer?" Judge David A. Tapp asked Coontz.

"Judge, I just think it goes to credibility," Coontz responded.

"There is no indication here, after examining the witness, that there has been any contact with the jurors," Tapp said. "But I will tell you I intend to, when I bring the jury in, ask if anybody has any contact with (the foster parent) directly or indirectly."

Every member of the jury said they had not had any contact with the woman in question.

Jurors hear from child witnesses

Objections were raised from both sides throughout the testimony of seven witnesses called by the prosecution, including two children — a girl and a boy — who alleged they had been touched sexually by Matthew Robinson.

The girl described multiple instances when Matthew Robinson would come over to Timothy Robinson's home and get children to "bounce" on his lap. Matthew Robinson would attempt to touch the children's underwear at times during the bouncing, the girl alleged.

"He was sitting on the couch and we were all sitting beside him because everyone thought it was cool to sit beside him," the girl said in reference to a specific instance. "And he put one of us on his lap and then he just kept switching us."

The girl also described an event when Matthew Robinson had her and a boy go into a bathroom and strip off all of their clothes.

"What happened after your clothes are off and the three of you all are standing in the bathroom?" Hill asked.

"He pushed (the boy) down and — like he was going to hit him. It looked like he was going to hit him but I don't know if he was or not," the girl responded.

"What did you do?"

"I got the courage to put my clothes back on and I ran out, leaving him behind."

The girl said she and a boy would often hide from Matthew Robinson in a nearby field or a neighbor's home because they were afraid of him.

"Why did you hide from (Matthew Robinson)?" Hill asked.

"We were just scared because we never knew what he would do. I don't know what was wrong with him but he had anger issues," the girl answered.

"Did you ever hide out all night long?"

"Yes."

"And why was that?"

"Because he stayed the night."

The prosecution also called a boy to testify, who alleged Matthew Robinson touched him on his penis once two years ago. The boy said he had also seen Matthew Robinson touch the crotch of a young girl.

After lengthy debate, another child was allowed to give narrowly defined testimony concerning a previous sexual abuse case against Timothy Robinson that has already concluded.

Timothy Robinson pleaded guilty in 2013 to incest and using a minor in a sexual performance. The child was involved in that case and testified that Timothy Robinson had engaged in anal sex with her while her head was covered.

Jurors were not informed that Timothy Robinson had pleaded guilty in the case, and Tapp instructed them that the girl's testimony was only to be used to determine a "pattern of conduct" from Timothy Robinson, if such a pattern exists.

Jurors heard testimony from a boy on Monday who alleged Timothy Robinson had engaged in anal sex with him in the same location — a single-wide trailer in Kings Mountain.

Women testify

Also taking the stand Wednesday were three women who have been involved with the Robinson family, including Timothy Robinson's wife, Rhonda, who pleaded guilty last year to facilitation of sex crimes committed by her husband.

Jurors were told by Tapp to ignore the orange inmate jumpsuit and chains that Rhonda Robinson wore while on the stand.

Rhonda Robinson was questioned by Hill concerning Matthew Robinson's behaviors toward her children, but she denied that Matthew Robinson had done anything wrong.

"Was there ever a time that you felt like Matt had done something to your children in a sexual nature?" Hill asked.

"No," Rhonda Robinson replied.

But Hill got Rhonda Robinson to admit there were times when she felt "a little bit" uncomfortable having Matthew Robinson around her children.

Rhonda Robinson's testimony was apparently contradictory to previous testimony she gave to State Police Trooper Rodney Wren, the officer who investigated the Robinsons.

She denied having confessed to Wren in an August 2012 interview that "there's a lot of sex going on at my house with all my kids."

Wren testified that Rhonda Robinson had said that to him in the interview and Hill played a tape from the interview of Rhonda Robinson saying the words in question.

On cross examination, Singleton followed a line of questioning that suggested Wren had been coercing Rhonda Robinson into saying that sexual abuse was occurring.

"Isn't it true that ... When you were having this conversation with Detective Wren, that your children had just been taken away? That's true, isn't it?" Singleton asked

"That's true, yes," Rhonda Robinson replied.

"It's also true that Detective Wren had just told you that he had taken your children, just days before?"

"Yes."

"It's also true that he had told you the more you lie, the madder he's going to get?"

"Yes."

Also testifying Wednesday were April Riddle — an ex-sister-in-law of Timothy and Matthew Robinson — and Mary Elizabeth Crow, who lived with Matthew Robinson for 13 years in the 1990s and 2000s.

Crow testified that she witnessed Matthew Robinson sexually abusing children in his family frequently when she visited Timothy Robinson's home.

"Did you ever see Matt do anything sexual to any of these children?" Hill asked.

"Yes," Crow said.

"What did you see?"

"... I stepped outside to smoke one day and ... I turned to go in the house and (a girl) was sitting in Matt's lap and Matt was drunk and she had on a real short skirt. And he was kind of going up the side of her leg trying to put his hand in her panties. And Tim made her get up and told him to stop."

Crow said she saw Matthew Robinson tell young boys he was going to make them perform oral sex. Matthew Robinson would also grab boys in their crotches and tell them he was going to have anal sex with them, Crow alleged.

On cross examination, Singleton got Crow to admit she had previously said she didn't believe Matthew Robinson could have committed some of the crimes he is accused of.

"And what else did you say about the quality of the evidence that you understood there's going to be?" Singleton asked.

"I don't remember," Crow replied.

Riddle, who divorced Luke Robinson in 2006, testified that she visited the home of Tim and Rhonda Robinson twice in 2012.

On the first visit, "the kids had on some inappropriate attire and I was really uncomfortable and I thought — you know, let's go," Riddle said.

On the second visit to the home, Riddle said she witnessed an incident inside Timothy and Rhonda Robinson's trailer.

"Matthew was sitting on the couch ... Timothy was in the kitchen and Rhonda was in the chair. (A girl) come out and jumped on Matthew's lap and was bouncing up and down and he told her to get off but she didn't get off and he didn't shove her off," Riddle said. "Finally, Timmy told her about maybe two or three minutes later to get off him."

Riddle said the girl was wearing very short shorts and did not have underwear on.

Hope Clinic receives award

The Hope Clinic & Pharmacy recently received the Hospital Charitable Services Finalist Award from Jackson Healthcare for providing healing care to those least able to obtain medical care. The Award recognizes the collaborative efforts that have made the Hope Clinic and Pharmacy a national symbol for health care providers and communities seeking to fill the gaps between those who have access to medical care and those who do not.

The Hospital Charitable Services Awards was created to build a community around evidence-based best practices in community-based charitable service and to honor hospitals whose charitable commitment promotes health and wellness in the local and global hospital communities. Its goal is to promote and support organizations setting new standards in their outreach efforts, hospitals that offer positive stories that capture the spirit of true care.

Jackson Healthcare is the third largest healthcare staffing company in the U.S. and serves more than five million patients in over 1,300 healthcare facilities. The company also provides technology solutions that enable total hospital efficiency.

The Hope Clinic & Pharmacy is a free clinic that assists medically underserved patients for hypertension, hyperlipidemia, type II diabetes, obesity, and GERD. It is a charitable collaboration between Ephraim McDowell Health, Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation, The Salvation Army, Heart of Kentucky United Way, Presbyterian Church of Danville and the Boyle County Health Department.

An encouraging word Relationships that give strength

By Howard Coop

Life is not always easy. Sometimes it is difficult, and the way ahead seems rough. We may have to "walk through the valley of the shadow death." But difficult as it may seem to be at the moment, we are not alone.

Recently, during a very difficult time in my life, I went alone to my favorite restaurant for dinner. As I made my way through the buffet line, a friend saw me, and, almost running, came to me, embraced me, and from the depth of her heart, expressed her sympathy. Before she finished, another friend came from another direction and did likewise. Then, in a moment, a third friend joined us and sincerely expressed her sympathy. That evening as those three friends surrounded me, I felt in my heart that I understood the importance of friends, the bond of friendship that can bind them together, and how that friendship can lift the human spirit when, for some reason, it is exceedingly low.

Then, I remembered words of Charles Kingsley when he wrote: "A blessed thing it is for any man or woman to have a friend...who, again, will comfort and encourage us in the day of difficulty and sorrow, when the world leaves us alone to fight our own battles as we can." And I knew that "Friendship," as James Langston Hill wrote, "is one of the greatest boons God can bestow on man. It is a union of our finest feelings; a disinterested binding of hearts, and a sympathy between two souls. It is an indefinable trust we repose in one another, a constant communion between two minds, and an unremitting anxiety for each other's soul." In those times that trouble the soul, there are relationships that give encouragement, strength, and comfort.

A friend is an intimate associate with whom there is a good relationship. For over twenty-five hundred years, it has been proverbial that in all situations such a friend "sticks closer than a brother."

Pleasant View Baptist Church news

By Scena Ann Petrey

The Great Awakening county-wide revival will start Sunday, April 27 at 6 p.m. The rest of the week the services will start at 7 p.m. The revival meetings will be at the Kings Mountain Community Center in Waynesburg. The evangelist will be Craig Hamlin. The revival is sponsored by the Lincoln County Baptist Association and other participating churches in Lincoln County. Everyone is invited to attend.

Easter Sunday services at Pleasant View were so inspiring. From the early Sunrise worship, the breakfast, the Life classes (Sunday school), the wonderful music provided by the choir, and the morning message, the nearly full sanctuary marveled at the true meaning of Easter.

One of the songs the choir sang reminded us of Jesus' journey from heaven to earth as a baby, a carpenter, a divine teacher, a crucified Savior, a buried Savior, and a resurrected Savior. Blessed Redeemer, Emmanuel, the rescue for sinners, the ransom from heaven, Jesus, Messiah, the Lord of all – our hope is in You. It's all because of You that I am alive! How can we ever give Him enough thanks for what He did??

Bro. Kyle's message was "How Jesus Is Better" and was taken from Rom. 4:25-5:2. Jesus is better because of what He did, because of what He gives, and because of how His love changes the way we live.

God's love is unconditional. We don't have to do anything to make Him love us more than He does nor can we do anything to make Him love us less. Because Jesus paid the sin debt for us, we become adopted brothers and sisters of Jesus.

"We don't have to justify our existence; Jesus has done that for us. We don't have to prove ourselves; Jesus ran the race for us, died the death for us, and through our trust in Jesus, we are justified and proven," pointed out Bro. Kyle.

A fitting conclusion to the services was when Bro. Jamie led the congregation in the song "O, Happy Day" with the children leading the church in the motions to the song. As Bro. Jamie said, "This is a happy day, a happy occasion to know that the cross and the tomb is empty. Jesus is not dead; He is very much alive."

The sign up sheets for different areas for Vacation Bible School are posted in the sanctuary. Please sign up for the job you are interested in by Sunday, April 27.

On May 4, we will be observing "Senior Adult Sunday". We will be having just one worship service, preceded by a senior breakfast at 9 a.m., followed by Bible study at 10 a.m., with worship at 11 a.m. We will also have a senior choir that day, and Bro. Jerry Hampton will bring the morning message.

On May 16-17, we are planning an overnight trip to the Badgett Playhouse in Grand Rivers. We will see the show, "Music, Memories, and More," and return by way of the Whistle Stop in Glendale. Contact Bro. Jerry or Reta for more information.

On Saturday, May 3 from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Pleasant View will have their mothers and others luncheon. This will be in the fellowship hall at the church.

Crossings Kid's Camp will be held July 20-23 for students finishing second through sixth grade. The cost is $200. Contact Stacy Story for more details.

Thought for the week: "The closer we are to the Shepherd, the farther we are from the wolf."

Stanford Christian Church

Misunderstandings happen often, and sometimes go on for so long we forget why they happened; but, without resolution. This happens in spousal relationships, parenting situations, sibling rivalries, and in the business/social world. Jesus was big on confrontation as a means of resolving conflicts. Jesus said if we have a problem with someone, before we go to the altar for cleansing, go to the person and try to get our differences settled. Confrontation and conversation are much better ways to resolve conflict than any of the alternatives. Come worship with us this Sunday at the Stanford Christian Church, 200 East Main Street (next to the courthouse), at 10:50 a.m., and begin getting some resolution to whatever conflicts you may be experiencing in your life.

Stanford Lions testing kids' eyesight

By Carol Parker

In less than a year from when it was made public that there is a camera for testing eyesight, primarily children, the Stanford Lions have one on loan. The cameras are super expensive and there are only two in this district.

The Lions who have trained for the use of the camera have gone to work making appointments at daycare centers, schools and churches to check the eyesight of children. It is important to catch a problem or even lazy eye, and best of all it is a free screening that is 95 percent effective.

With the Kids Sight Program, the screening only takes 30 to 60 seconds in a darkened room with the child's parent or teacher standing with them. The flashing lights on the camera hold the child's attention. No physical contact is made with the child and no eyedrops are used. The screening is for children six months to six years old.

Stanford Lion Mike McKenzie tests the vision of Woodson Adams, accompanied by his mom and Kid's Place owner Lezli Adams.

Prior to the testing, consent forms are completed by parents or guardians. The results are then given to the parent or guardian. If further testing is recommended, instructions are given for the next step along with a list of local eye doctors who have agreed to work with the Kids Sight Program.

On April 2, 19 children at the Kids Place Day Care Center, in Stanford (owner Lezlie Adams) were tested. One child was recommended for further testing.

Sight is so precious, now with this testing camera, a problem can be revealed.

If your child's eyes have never been tested or if you would like to host a screening for several kids, contact Carrie McKenzie of the Stanford Lions at (440) 552-2979, it can make a difference.

Fairview Baptist Church news

By Shelby Lakes

Forty members of Fairview gathered at Gary and Linda Peck's home for an outdoor Sunrise service at 6:30 on Sunday morning. As the sun peeked over the horizon with a cross in the foreground, Bro. Johnny Baker gave us a resurrection message from Luke:

On the day after the Sabbath, Mary Magdalene and other women came with spices and ointments to the sepulcher where Christ was laid. They found the stone rolled away from the entrance of the sepulcher and then two men stood near them in shining garments. The men told the women that Jesus had risen, as He had told them he would.

We should admire the women's courage, Bro. Johnny said. They left before daylight and were not afraid to be identified with Christ. What were they expecting? Bro. Johnny asked.

"What a great way to leave a cemetery!" Bro. Johnny said. They ran trembling, amazed, fearful, and wondered how others would respond when they told them. This gives us a different view of death. Because He lives, we will live also. Jesus had the power to give up his life and the power to raise it again. We worship a risen Savior, Bro. Johnny said.

The regular service was attended by 236 and opened with the baptism of the newest member of Fairview.

Many don't know what the death and resurrection of Christ is all about, Bro. Johnny said. Jesus knows the potential of everyone and has the ability to help him or her reach it. Only Jesus can do what needs to be done in your spiritual life. "The moment you say 'yes' to Jesus, you step from death to life," Bro. Johnny said.

The resurrection means so much because we now have everything to live for. The joy received from things is short lived. You need something to give you eternal meaning, Bro. Johnny said. God made you for a purpose; until you understand, life won't make much sense to you.

The resurrection matters because it seals you to the day of redemption. You can have confidence, Bro. Johnny said.

But if you are lost, don't live among the dead any longer, Bro. Johnny said. Live among the living (through Christ).

Card of thanks

We would like to express our thanks and gratitude to the men and women of the Lincoln County Fire Department. Their quick response and professionalism, as well as that of the 911 service, saved our home.

On April 3, 2014, we had an attic fire, the result of a lightening strike. The department carefully removed all the smoldering insulation. Minimal damage was done to our home due to their precaution. They did not leave until completely sure the fire was out. We sincerely thank them for their consideration and help.

Also, a special thanks to John Oros, James Dean, Lynn Young and Max Miracle for all their help and thoughtfulness.

Stanford Nazarene Church news

By Buford Edwards II

Our mission at Stanford Nazarene Church is to share the gospel message of Jesus Christ to all the world and to be a place of healing and hope to all in need. Come as you are, Jesus will meet you there!

Sunday morning, we celebrated Resurrection Sunday with song and word as we continued the Ashes to Fire series and the sermon brought by Bro. Buford from Matthew 28 on the subject, "News at 11.

Join us on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. for our "Book Club." Right now the "Book Club" is engaging the Ashes to Fire series. This is an awesome series that leads us through Lent, Easter and Pentecost. The youth also have powerful services as well as classes for our children. It's a busy place on Wednesday, come check it out.

WE NEED YOUR HELP! The church is working hard on year two of the "Five Year Plan." We are actively raising funds to purchase a church van and pay off the debt on the fellowship hall. If you would like to donate to the cause, you can drop off a donation at any service or even mail in a donation. Just remember to write "Five Year Plan," somewhere (memo field of check or envelope of cash) in order for it to be properly designated.

The men's group and youth group have entered into a joint venture to complete service projects in the community. If you are in need of any work done around your home that you are unable to complete, or know of any folks in need, please contact Bro. Robert Bowen or Bro. Dennis Hasty.

MARK YOUR CALENDARS: We will be having the Crossroads Quartet joining us on Sunday, May 4 at 6 p.m. for a Gospel Singing Night. There is no admission fee but we will be receiving a love offering to help cover their traveling expenses.

The ladies meet the first Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Their next regular meeting will be Tuesday, May 6.

The men's group meets every other month on the second Monday of the month. However, our next meeting will be Saturday, May 17 at noon. We will be meeting for a target shoot and lunch on the farm. Come out and join us.

We are currently in the planning stages of a silent auction for July. If you are interested in donating items, let Bro. Buford know. All proceeds will be directed toward our Five Year Plan.

The church has an active food assistance program. If you know of anyone or have a need yourself, leave a message at the church.

Service times: We have an amazing variety of blended services. Each week we have "Schoolin" (Sunday school) beginning at 10 a.m., with worship services on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Additionally, our "Book Club," youth, and children all meet together on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. The "Book Club" and children always meet at the church and the youth alternate between the church and fellowship hall each week.

For more information about our youth group and children's programs, email the directors by logging on to our website at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com

If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Pastor Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. Don't forget to also "like" the Stanford Church of the Nazarene on Facebook to receive updates and an encouraging word.

Hate for Jews big problem

Teaching diversity key to defeating anti-semitism

“I hate all Jews” was Frazier Glenn Miller’s mantra, repeated time and again by the well-known white supremacist at rallies, in publications and on the Internet over a period of many years.

Last week, on the eve of Passover, Miller translated his words of hate into violent action by opening fire on a Jewish community center and Jewish retirement home in Overland Park, Kansas.

Although Jews were Miller’s apparent targets, his bullets killed three Christians — including Reat Underwood, a 14 year-old boy who was at the community center to audition for a singing competition.

It might be tempting, even consoling, to treat Miller’s hate crime as an isolated case of a deranged man losing control. But that would be a mistake for at least two reasons.

First, Miller is not alone. According to the Southern Poverty Law Center, an organization that monitors hate groups, Miller is just one of thousands of people who belong to more than 1,000 anti-Semitic, white supremacist, neo-Nazi hate groups in the United States. Many of these people are armed and dangerous. We ignore or underestimate them at our peril.

Second, anti-Semitism is a bigger problem in America than is commonly acknowledged. According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, 62% of 1,340 religiously motivated hate crimes recorded in 2012 were directed at Jews.

Earlier this month, the Anti-Defamation League reported that although the total number of anti-Semitic incidents fell by 19% in 2013, the number of violent attacks on Jews rose to 31 from 17 in the previous year.

Beyond the hardcore “white power” and neo-Nazi adherents, Americans are generally less anti-Semitic than we were some 50 years ago when the ADL began surveying attitudes toward Jews. Nevertheless, deep-seated anti-Semitic beliefs persist.

An ADL survey released last October found that 14% of Americans believe that “Jews have too much power in the U.S. today,” 15% agree with the statement “Jews are more willing to use shady practices,” and 18% say that Jews have “too much influence over the American news media.”

INSIDE THE FIRST AMENDMENT

History teaches that ignorance and fear are root causes of hate and violence. That’s why the best way to counter the growth of hate groups is to educate young people about Judaism — and other religions — and give them the civic skills needed for engaging people of different faiths and beliefs with civility and respect.

If your local school district largely ignores issues concerning religion (and far too many do), here are three sound resources for teaching civil discourse in a diverse society while simultaneously educating students about a range of religions and beliefs:

- The Southern Poverty Law Center’s “Teaching Tolerance” program provides a wealth of resources for K-12 educators, including classroom lessons, professional development opportunities and publications on key issues of religious diversity in our society. (www.tolerance.org)

- Tanenbaum has in-depth materials and workshop offerings for schools interested in addressing religious diversity and teaching conflict resolution. (www.tanenbaum.org)

- Face to Faith is a program offered free to schools that enables American students to engage directly with students of many faiths and beliefs in more than 20 countries through video-conferencing and secure online community. (www.tonyblairfaithfoundation.org)

Little can be said or done that will assuage the grief of those who lost family members and friends in the Kansas shooting. But we can act to inoculate the next generation against the sick and twisted ideology that inspired Frazier Glenn Miller to gun down three innocent people in a fit of rage against the Jews.

Hover-math

Seventh-grade math students at Lincoln County Middle School honed their real-world math skills recently with a project where they had to design — and then race — hovercrafts. Students were tasked with staying on-task and under-budget as they figured out the best way to design a frame for a hovercraft. Then, on April 15, they raced the different designs to see who could travel a length of the gymnasium floor the fastest. At right, the winning hovercraft team is: from left to right standing, Gwen Langley, Lexi Towle, Abby Carter, Tyrone Godbey and Ryder Lake; and in front, Gavin Brown. Below left, Cole Shelton and Isaac Coleman push Gavin Brown on the hovercraft, and below right, Max Turpin and Jared Williams push Brown during a timed hovercraft run. The students were taught by math teachers Danny Griffin and Kim Grimes. The curriculum is part of a research study being conducted by a University of Kentucky educational doctoral candidate.

has big plans for her.”
“I absolutely did not do this for anybody but Paisley,” Bailey said. “She is one of the bravest little girls that I know. It was an easy decision. Even some people in my family didn’t understand why I chose to do it, but it wasn’t my decision, it was God’s plan for us.”
Taking home the biggest award of the night — Citizen of the Year — were Jess and Angela Correll. The couple won the citizen award one year after the restaurant they are partners in, the Bluebird Cafe, won for Business of the Year.
Jess Correll is the founder and chairman of First Southern Bancorp, the parent company of First Southern National Bank. Angela Correll has written more than 50 columns for local newspapers and her debut novel, “Grounded,” was published in 2013.
Besides her involvement in the Bluebird, Angela Correll owns Kentucky Soaps and Such, a downtown Stanford business that sells handcrafted goat-milk soap and Kentucky Proud products, among other things.
Jess Correll is president and chairman of the board for The River Foundation, a private foundation that gives to Christian organizations.

Together, the Corrells have put millions into renovations of historical buildings in Lincoln County and central Kentucky.
The Corrells are part of the work being done currently on the old Baughman Mill building in Stanford.
For their preservation work, the Corrells received the 2013 Linda Bruckheimer Excellence in Rural Preservation award.
Mary and John David Friend presented the Corrells with their award.
Angela Correll told the audience she loves the Lincoln County community so much she “had to write about it.”
“It really is an inspiration to me, the people who are here. I’ve never experienced anything like this before,” she said. “I grew up in Danville, I lived in Lexington, traveled all over the world, really, and I’ve never seen anything like this community. It’s beautiful and the people are beautiful indie and out and we’re just grateful and thankful to live here.”
Jess Correll said his wife had expressed how he felt, as well.
“I really love Lincoln County. We love the topography; we love the people,” he said. “We’re blessed to be able to travel and we can’t wait to get home.”

Stanford business Your Village Shoppe earned Business of the Year honors during the event, which featured a silent auction, dinner and awards ceremony.
Sheree Gilliam, last years Citizen of the Year, presented the award for Carolyn and Bobby Muse, the owners of the eclectic Main Street shop.
“(Your Village Shoppe) is a comfortable, inviting place to browse for candles, quilts, primitives, furniture, antiques, hand-crafted items or just about anything else you can think of to make your home a showplace,” Gilliam said. “(Carolyn Muse) truly believes in cooperation among all business in Lincoln and in that spirit has helped three other businesses to grow out of her shop.”
Big Apple
The “Big Apple” award was given to long-time teacher and coach Doug Pendencygraft.
Pendencygraft, who is retiring this year, began his career in Lincoln County in 1962 as a teacher and basketball coach — first at Crab Orchard High School and then Stanford High School.
Pendencygraft spent the last 18 years teaching and coaching in Lincoln County. Most recently, he has been working as the district’s homebound teacher, working with students who are sick and can no longer come to school on a daily basis.

“Many of these students are seriously ill and face tremendous obstacles,” Hart said. “Mr. Pendencygraft takes them under his wing and provides much more than just academic support to them and their families.”
“The most important thing to me is the students that you’ve had and how they come back and see you,” Pendencygraft said while accepting his award. “That’s what it’s all about. To be able to do something like this — it’s great.”
Healthcare Service
Heritage Hospice Community Liaison Sharon Martin was given the Healthcare Service award for her work with local military veterans.
“With veterans accounting for about 17 percent of the county’s population, (Martin) has a big job,” said award-presenter Sharon Keith. “She wants the county’s veterans to feel honored and supported as a way of saying ‘thank you’ for their service.”
Martin helps organize an annual Veterans Appreciation Day, makes sure veterans can receive counseling on available benefits and works to find ways to honor military veterans, such as with the recent Black History Month celebration, during which African-American veterans who served in World War II and the Korean War were honored.

“Even though she has great love for Lincoln’s veterans, Martin strives to let every Lincoln Countian known about the support Hospice’s teams ... offer at the end of life,” Keith said. “She knows there are no do-overs in this arena and she tries to reach out to a variety of groups.”
Outstanding Farmer
At 90 years old, J.L. Hoskins was the oldest award recipient at the banquet.
Award presented David Campbell explained that Hoskins had earned his Outstanding Farmer award after more than eight decades of raising cattle — he bought his first heifer for $8 when he was nine years old.
Hoskins also raised a one-third acre of tobacco when he was 10, and by the time he was 17, he had started his own Angus operation and become a member of the American Angus Association.
In 1955, Hoskins and his wife bought a farm south of Hustonville, naming it Branch View Angus.

“I’ve enjoyed the past 90 years and I don’t think I would change it a bit,” Hoskins said.
Bastin Service Award
The June King Gover Bastin Service to Community award went to a group of people — the Caswell Saufley American Legion Post No. 18 in Stanford.
The American Legion post, which carries flags and performs 21-gun salutes at funerals for military veterans and also performs at various community events, is well-respected in the Lincoln County community, said Martha Bastin, the presenter.
“Local funeral homes provided letters of support for this nomination, but I am certain that if the call had gone to the public, there would have been a flood of support for these gentlemen,” she said.
Post leader Lynn Young said it’s support from those in Lincoln County that makes it possible for the Caswell-Saufley post to do what it does.
“Lincoln County is a great community to work in. We’ve never really had to lack for anything,” he said. “That doesn’t happen in a lot of communities.”
About 250 people attended the banquet.

Lincoln tennis teams sweep Southern

By Nancy Leedy

STANFORD — It was almost a perfect clean sweep for the Lincoln County tennis teams Tuesday, as they dominated visiting Madison Southern.

The Lincoln County boys scored a 9-0 shutout over the Eagles while the girls scored a big 8-1 win over the Lady Eagles.

“This was a great match to send the seniors out on,” Lincoln coach Allen Lewis said. “All of our seniors picked up wins tonight: Colin Hart, Ethan Smith Levi Humes, Logan Smith, Joe Johnson, Cassie Smith, Alyssa Turner, and Kristalynne Reynolds. This is a great group of seniors.”

Lincoln really racked up the 6-0 wins in the match, with 11 of the day’s 16 matches all ending without a single lost game.

The Lincoln boys won 6-0 in every one of their singles matches. Colin Hart defeated Patrick Coyle at one, Ethan Smith beat Clay LaBrecht at two, Levi Humes took the three seed match over Jason Robinson and Joe Johnson won over Nick Alexander at four.

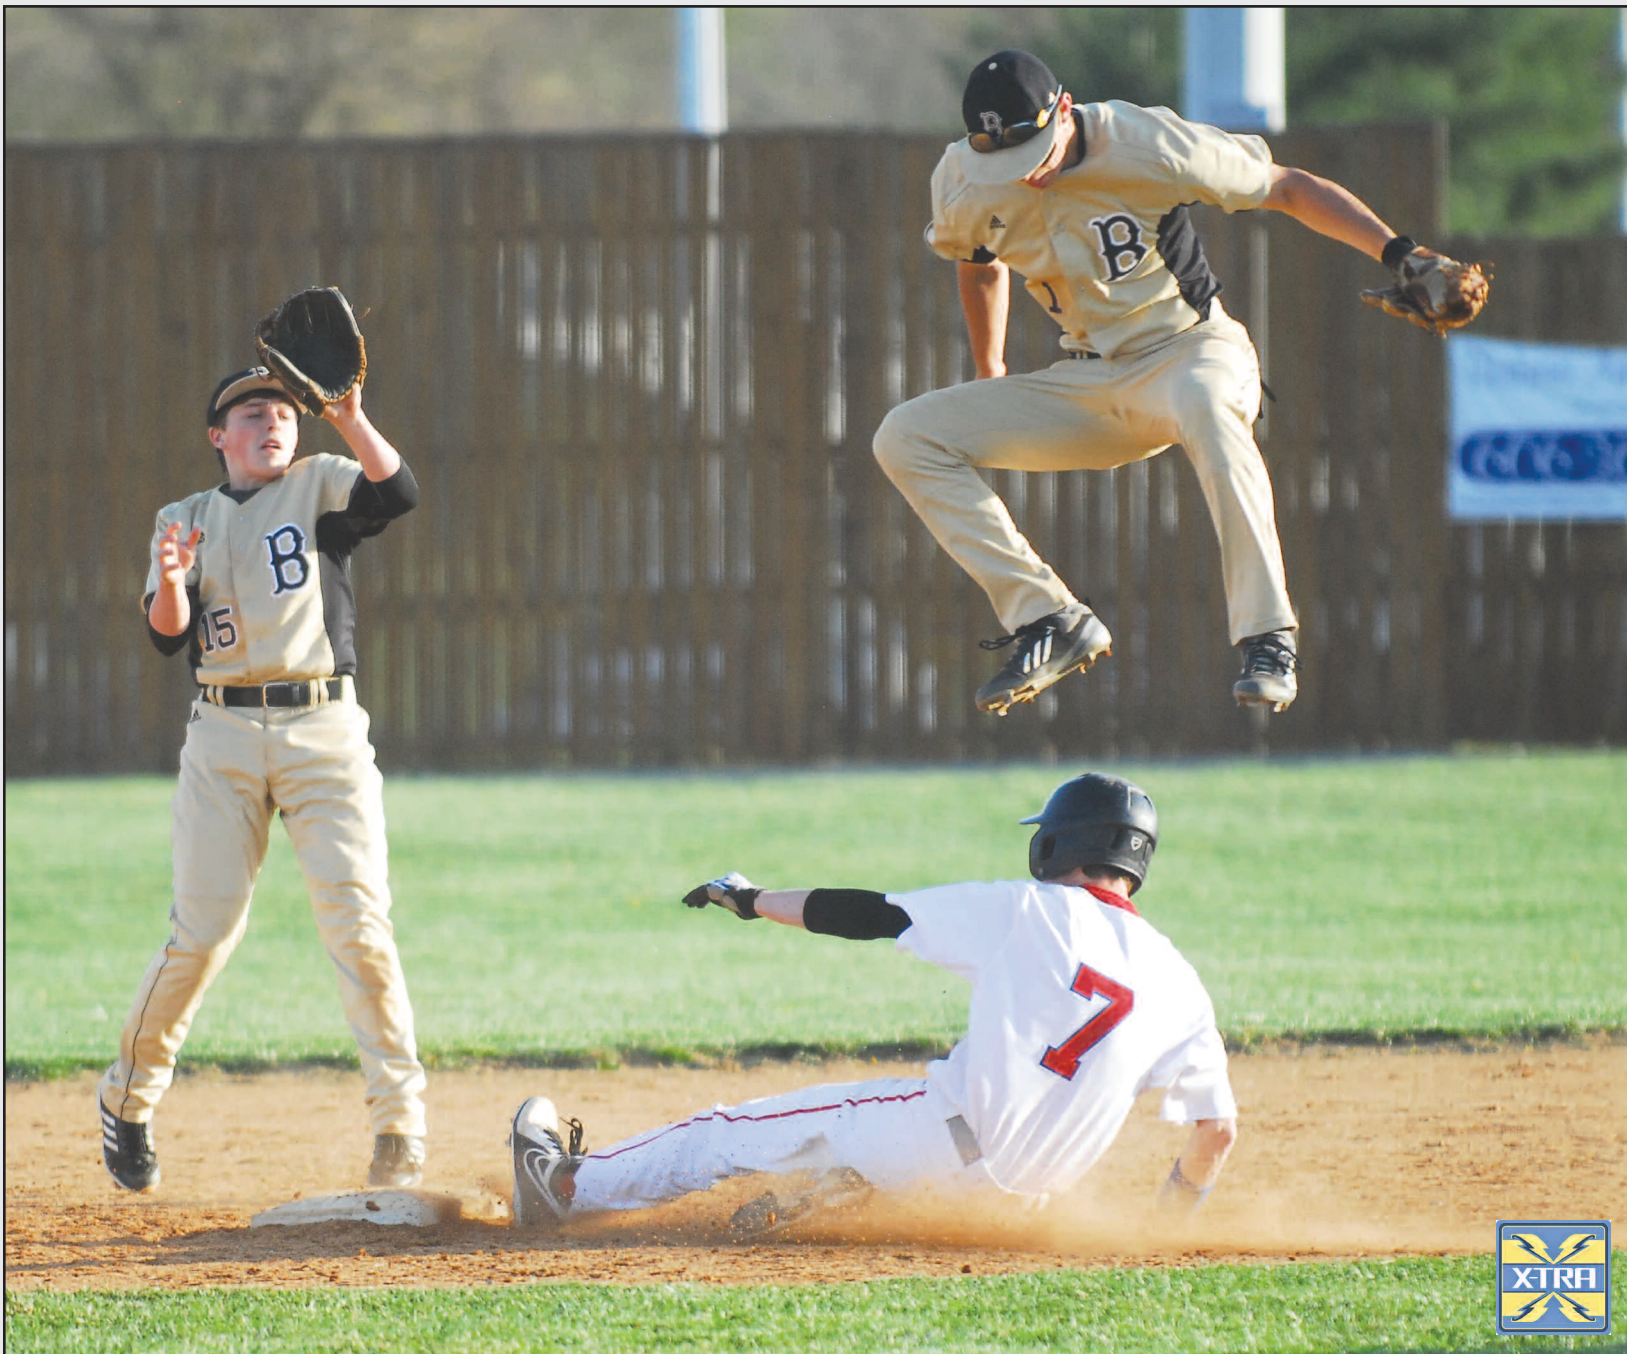

In boys doubles, Hart and Smith rolled 6-0 over Coyle and LaBrecht at one and Ethan LaSure and Connor Playforth won 6-1 over Robinson and Alexander at two.

The closest match of the day came at the three seed in boys doubles as Lincoln’s Levi Humes and Logan Smith took on Southern’s Coyle and Robinson. The two teams played to a 6-6 tie, and Humes and Smith eventually clinched the 7-6 win in a 7-0 tiebreaker.

The Lady Patriots actually outdid the Patriots in netting 6-0 wins, with six for the girls

Visiting Rebels score two runs in final two innings to deny Bat Patriots

By Nancy Leedy

STANFORD — When Lincoln County baseball coach Daryl Day left the field following Thursday’s game with Boyle County, he had a smile on his face.

The Bat Patriots didn’t knock off their 45th District rival. No, Lincoln held a one-run lead in the fifth inning, but the visiting Rebels scored two runs in their last two at bats to win 4-3.

The reason for Day’s smile was Lincoln’s “almost-winning” effort.

“Do we look different now than we did two or three weeks ago? We look a lot different. I mean, we’re in this game,” said Day. “Two or three weeks ago, we’re not in this game with a chance to tie it up or win it at the end. We’re continually making improvements. We’re building towards May, just hoping that we get there. Our pitching’s there. Our defense is there. We just have to learn how to score more runs.”

Lincoln’s improved play against Boyle resulted in a happier post-game huddle.

“When I get down there in the middle of that huddle, as bad as I want to yell at them for losing, I can’t fuss at them for losing today,” said Day. “How can you be upset with how they played today compared to how they played against Russell County, Mercer County, Danville, those early games? I mean, this (Boyle) was the team that a lot of people picked to win

Lady Patriot softball team falls 11-1 to region’s best, East Jessamine

By Nancy Leedy

STANFORD — East Jessamine, the 12th Region’s top-ranked softball team, pounded out 16 hits and scored seven runs in the third inning en route to an 11-1 win over host Lincoln County Monday.

East senior Haleigh Fain went 5-for-5, including a double, to lead the Lady Jaguars’ offense. Berisha Gill was 3-for-4 in the win and Sara Rainwater was 3-for-5, with a double. Malin Miracle and Olivia Day each had two hits in the game.

“East Jessamine is a really good hitting team, and it was just one of those days when they just got a lot of hits,” Lincoln coach Kevin Bandura said. “They strung some things together and had that one big inning. Early on we hold them to a couple runs in the first inning and we score one in the bottom. To win games like this, we’re going to have to hang around with them.”

East (16-6, 5-0 region) earned the win without the services of its ace pitcher and fourth batter, Haylee Hamm, who was hit in the face with a line drive during the team’s 11-1 win over Rockcastle County on April 11.

“She had to have reconstructive eye surgery and she’s going to be out six to eight weeks,” Bandura said. “They’re kind of scrambling without her. They’ve readjusted their lineup and they are relying on players in positions that they are not used to yet. Unfortunately for us, they were able to put together a bunch of hits, and when you score 11 runs you kind of overcome some things defensively.”

East never trailed in the game, scoring all the runs it needed for the win in the first inning. The Lady Jags tagged four hits off Lincoln starter McKenzie Hensley and scored two runs in their first at bat. Jessica Tucker led off with a bunt single then scored on a Fain double. Fain moved to third on a Lincoln error before being driven in by Allison Schubert. Malin Miracle also singled in the first, but both she and Schubert were left stranded.

Lincoln (7-6, 5-5) got back a run in the bottom of the inning, with Chelsea Marcum tagging a two-out single to plate Hannah Brown. Brown walked on, and five for the boys.

Cassie Smith, Alyssa Turner, Kristalynne Reynolds and Landrea Smith all won 6-0 in singles. Cassie Smith defeated Carley Mayfield at one, Turner topped Nicole Maynard at two, Reynolds defeated Hannah Young at three and Landrea Smith downed Stephanie Madden at four.

Cassie Smith and Turner also won 6-0 at one in doubles, downing Southern's Mayfield and Maynard, and Reynolds and Landrea Smith collected a 6-0 win at two over Young and Cassie Fry.

Peyton Lewis was a 6-2 winner over Fry at the five seed in singles and the Lady Pat doubles team of Kierra Hoover and Kaitlyn Lane won 6-3 over Madden and Mayfield at three.

The Lincoln tennis teams split in two road matches. The Patriots won 6-3 at Somerset while the Lady Patriots fell 6-3, and it was the Lady Pats winning at Berea, 6-3, while the Pats fell 5-4.

At Somerset, Hart, Smith, Lasure and Zane Gosser all won in singles.

Boys doubles results were not available.

In the girls match, Cassie Smith and Turner collected all the "Ws," winning their singles and doubles matches, all by a score of 6-1.

Smith and Turner were also victorious in singles and doubles in the girls 6-3 win at Berea. Reynolds also picked up a win in the match, as did Briana McKenzie and Belle Griffin.

Hart, Playforth and Humes won in singles for the Pats against Berea and the Lasure/Playforth team won in doubles.

Note: The Patriot and Lady Patriot tennis teams will actually have one more home match, with Lewis rescheduling a makeup match with Southwestern today at LCHS.

Complete results from the matches follow:

moved to second on an East throwing error then took third on a passed ball. The Lady Patriots had runners in scoring position with Marcum on second and Jaylan Sowders, who reached on the error, at third, but Schubert got Alyssa Meece to ground out to end the inning.

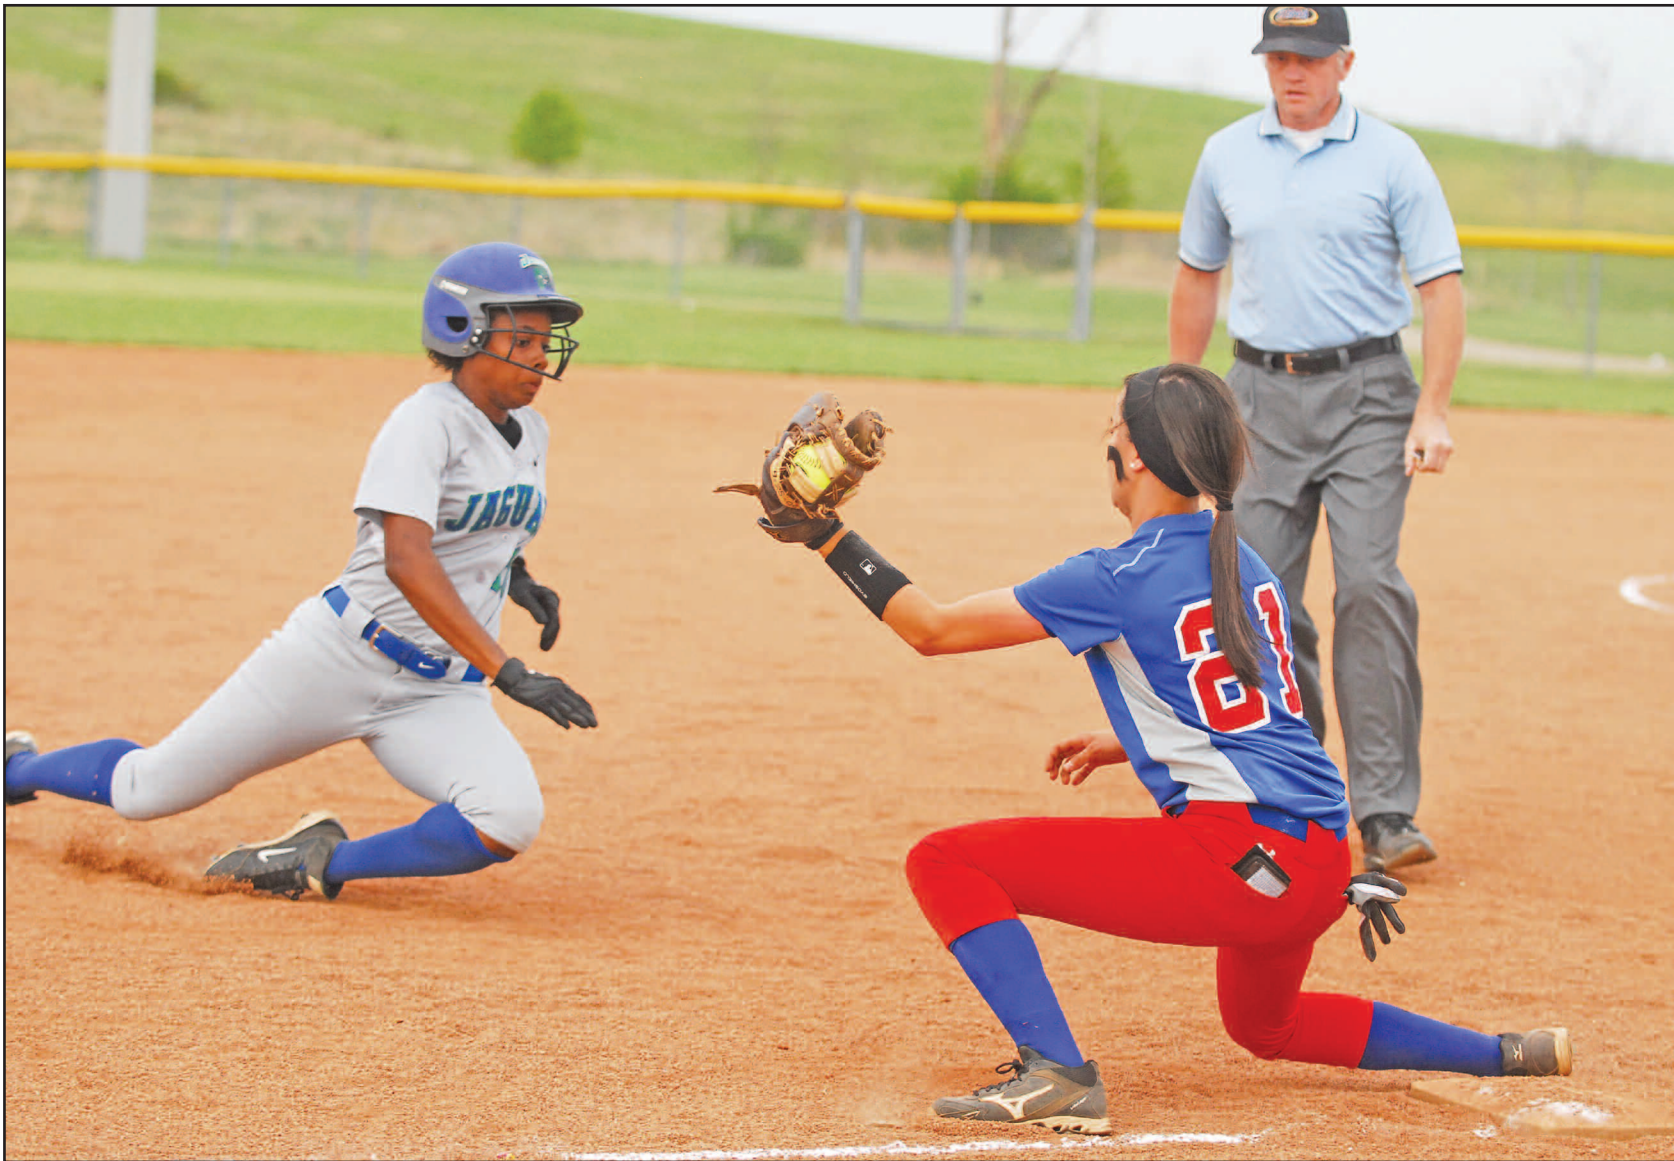

“We took advantage of their one error in the first inning. Chelsea Marcum did a nice job with a two-out RBI, but we’ve got to do something behind that,” Bandura said. “We’ve got to string three and four hits together and put some runs up. A couple times in the game we had a leadoff runner on and weren’t able to move them around. We didn’t take advantage of the walks that we had either.”

Schubert gave up just the one run in her two innings on the mound. She allowed one hit with two walks and two strikeouts. Jessica Tucker came on in the third and allowed just two hits with one walk and five strikeouts.

It was in the third inning that East took control of the game, putting seven runs up on the scoreboard. Fain and Rainwater led off with singles and both scored on a Miracle RBI-single to left center. Miracle moved around to second and third when Jessica Foxworth and Day both singled then scored when Gill was hit by a pitch. Foxworth later scored on a Felicia Farmer pop fly and Day and Gill both crossed home plate off Fain’s second hit of the inning. Tucker, who was also hit by a pitch, made it a 9-1 ballgame when she scored on a Rainwater single to left center.

The third inning would not only be the Lady Jags’ biggest run producing inning, but also the most hit producing at-bat, with seven hits tagged off Hensley and reliever Sydney Slone.

“They’re still no holes in their lineup even without the Hamm girl,” said Bandura. “They’ve still got nine great hitters. Everybody got the opportunity to hit the ball hard. They also played small ball well. They got bunts down that hurt us. Offensively, they are a complete team.”

Lincoln had no answer to East’s blowout inning. Tucker faced the minimum of Lincoln batters in the third, fourth and seventh innings, and the Lady Pats had just four batters at the plate in both the fifth and sixth innings.

Jenna King reached on a walk in the fifth inning for Lincoln and made it to second base on Kristen Meece’s two-out single. Both were left on. Marcum, who was 2-for-3, singled to reach in the sixth but was also left standing.

“It was a close game before they had that big inning, and then I thought we just let down from there. It kind of took a lot of wind out of our sails,” Bandura said. “We’ve got to respond better to that because after that they scored two innings the rest of the game. So they had one big inning. We can do that, too. We can have a big inning, but we didn’t tonight. That’s something we’re going to go back and work on and string more hits together.”

Tucker and Fain both scored in the seventh inning for East, with Tucker coming home on a Rainwater single and Fain scoring on a Lincoln fielding error for the 11-1 final.

Hensley, a sophomore, was up 2-2/3 innings for the Lady Patriots. Slone, a freshman, came on in the third and finished, impressing Bandura with her effort.

“I thought Sydney Slone did a really nice job coming in,” Bandura said. “She got out of a jam in the fourth inning. She threw very well in the fifth, sixth and seventh. When she came in, she inherited a couple runners, she gave up one of those, then got out of it. She had three scoreless innings, too. It’s probably the best we’ve seen Sydney throw. She threw a lot of strikes and that was good to see because we are going to need her and McKenzie both down the stretch.”

Bandura wasn’t impressed with Lincoln’s offense, however.

“Offensively, I’m disappointed in our effort tonight because we’ve got to do a better job of stringing our hits together,” he said. “We’ve got to scratch two or three together. If it’s 9-3 then all of a sudden 9-5 then things get a little tight, but we never put any pressure on them. Credit East Jessamine, the pitchers threw well enough to get us out.”

45TH DISTRICT

our district at beginning of the year and we were in this game.”

Lincoln (4-13, 0-2 district) led 3-2 going into the sixth but, in the top of the inning, Josiah Robbins, who had two hits and two RBIs for Boyle, led off with a solo home run to tie the game.

Winning pitcher Addison Coffey also drove in two runs for the Rebels (7-9, 2-1), plating the winning run in the seventh with a sacrifice fly to center field.

The Bat Patriots had themselves in position to at least tie the game in the bottom of the seventh. Josh Wilson singled to reach and stood on second after a stolen base with just one out. But Lincoln could not produce the needed runs, with Coffey getting Boone Baird and Austin Smith to strike out to end the game.

“We’re in position there,” Day said. “We’ve got one out, a runner at second. We’ve got a chance to make some things happen right there. It doesn’t come through for us, but I liked our chances in that situation.”

Lincoln scored first in the district game, scoring two runs in the bottom of the first. Baird led off with a walk and Smith singled to reach. Wilson, courtesy runner for Baird, moved around to third on a Boyle throwing error on Smith’s single then scored on an Aaron Estes bunt. Smith made it 2-0 when he scored on a wild throw.

Boyle evened the game up at 2-all in the top of the third. Cameron Walker lays down a one-out bunt to reach, steals second, then goes to third on a Tyler Ward single. Walker later scored on a Coffey ground out then Ward came in on a Robbins RBI-single past short.

The Bat Patriots were back on top by the end of the third. Baird singled to reach and Wilson came on board to steal his way around to third base. Wilson then scored on an error on a strikeout to give Lincoln a 3-2 edge.

Boyle came close to not getting the winning run across in the seventh. Baird, Lincoln’s catcher, was all that stood between Walker and home plate as Walker tried to slide home off Coffey’s sacrifice fly, but Baird could not hold onto the throw from Aaron Estes and Walker scored.

“We come out here and basically have them where we want them,” said Day. “Aaron Estes makes a great throw and almost throws out the winning run. If we had put up a couple more runs in the second, third, fourth innings, this is a completely different ballgame.”

Logan Young went the distance for Lincoln, giving up four runs off seven hits with three walks and nine strikeouts.

“He was on today,” Day said of his junior pitcher. “He got a little tired there at the end. I told him he missed one spot with one pitch and that was the ball that got hit out of the park. Other than that he had a great day. If you can go through a whole game and throw 100 or 110 pitches and you miss one, that’s great. Except they usually make you pay on the one you miss on.”

Coffey gave up three runs off five hits, with two walks and 11 strikeouts.

Micah Miniard had three hits for Boyle.

Lincoln, which played Boyle Tuesday (results were unavailable at press time), will not meet the Rebels again until possibly the district tournament. And Day is happy there is plenty of baseball to be played between now and then.

“It’s the middle of April, we’ve got one month left, we’re halfway through our schedule. It makes you feel good when you compare the first two weeks to the last two weeks of the first half,” he said. “Now let’s see what we do the next four weeks.”

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife News: Midnight April 30 is deadline to apply for elk hunt

FRANKFORT, Ky. – Where there were no elk two decades ago in Kentucky, an estimated 10,000 or more now roam freely. A landmark restoration effort re-established an elk herd in the state's scenic southeastern region and created one of the most sought-after hunting opportunities east of the Rocky Mountains. "Our elk herd is doing fantastic," said Tina Brunjes, deer and elk program coordinator with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "The harsh winter wasn't enough to bother it." Hunters looking for a chance to check a Kentucky elk hunting adventure off their bucket list have until midnight (Eastern time) April 30 to enter this year's quota hunt drawing. Completing the online application at fw.ky.gov well ahead of time is encouraged to avoid the expected last-minute rush. Kentucky residents and those living out-of-state are eligible to apply for as many as two of the four permit types but can only be drawn for one. Each application costs $10. Kentucky Fish and Wildlife will issue 1,000 general quota hunt permits and 10 youth permits this year through a random computer drawing conducted in early May by the Kentucky Commonwealth Office of Technology. Results will be posted online at fw.ky.gov. Kentucky's elk herd is the largest east of the Rocky Mountains and more than all the states east of the Mississippi River combined. The elk restoration zone in southeast Kentucky covers 16 counties and more than 4 million acres. "The abundance and accessibility of Kentucky's elk continue to produce high hunter success rates," Brunjes said. Eighty-eight percent of bull elk hunters using a gun last year enjoyed a successful hunt, while 69 percent of the hunters utilizing archery equipment successfully harvested a bull. The success rate for cow archery hunters was 46 percent last year but almost 78 percent among hunters using a firearm for cow elk. "I think hunters will find this year to be very similar to last year," Brunjes said. "You are going to have to work for it. You may not be able to go out opening morning, harvest your elk and be on the road by noon. "The elk are there but some of the old cows that are leading these herds have been through 13 seasons now. I would encourage anyone who is truly a passionate bow hunter looking for a test to put in for that cow elk archery tag because you will earn that cow elk." The season limit of 250 bulls and 750 cow elk is unchanged from last year, as is the allotment among tag types. Kentucky Fish and Wildlife will issue 150 firearms permits and 100 archery/crossbow permits for bulls; 460 firearms permits and 290 archery/crossbow permits for cow elk. Demand is greatest for the bull firearms permit and lowest for the cow archery hunts. Kentucky residents applying for a cow archery tag had a 1 in 13 chance of being drawn last year compared to 1 in 134 for bull firearms. The bull elk firearms seasons are spread over two separate, weeklong hunts in October while the cow elk firearms seasons are split into two weeklong hunts in December. A special bull archery season opens before the firearms season. Hunters ages 15 and younger can apply for the youth-only quota hunt during the same application period as the general elk quota hunt drawing. They may also apply for the general quota elk hunt drawing, but cannot be drawn for both in the same year. "The youth-only option does not appear until the child's birthday is entered in the drawing application process," Brunjes said. "The youth permit is good during all seasons and it's an either-sex permit. There's more opportunity to hunt with that permit."

FARM FACTS

By Dan Grigson
Lincoln County Extension Office

Wild or managed pastures?

Which do you have, wild or managed pastures? I am afraid that too many of our pastures are wild and receive little or no management. This is one reason why our milk production and calf gains are low on many farms. Well managed pastures can be very good sources of nutrients for cattle; however, poorly managed or non-managed pastures can be very damaging to production. The season of the year has a big bearing on the productivity of any pasture. Grasses such as fescue and orchard grass mature in late May or early June in Kentucky. Once these grasses begin to head, the quality and milk and gain producing ability decreases rapidly. We need to manage these grass pastures to make sure we get the best production.

How do we manage pastures to receive the most from them? Fertilizing, rotating, keeping clovers incorporated in with grasses, and keeping the pastures clipped, are all part of the answer. Grasses respond quickly to nitrogen. Fertilize in late February and early March to produce lush growth. Follow that with more nitrogen in May after the heads have been clipped. If the rains continue, the nitrogen fertilizer will make a good amount of grass growth for summer grazing.

Rotational grazing is one of the best methods of keeping quality high. Even though we have been aware of the benefits of this for many years, I continue to see farmers continuously open graze pastures from March to October. Fence pastures into smaller fields which will last about one week for beef cattle and three weeks for dairy cows. Have enough fields to keep cows off the pasture three to four weeks depending on the time of year and growth rate of the forage. Electric fence is cheap and quick and serves the purpose well for rotational grazing. Clip seed heads and uneaten stems after each rotation. This provides new regrowth which is much higher quality forage than the old stems and blades. If you don't clip, the grass plant thinks it has done its job which is to produce seed and then it will slow down growth for the rest of the season. Clipping the grass tricks the plant into growing fast again which means you get the flush of new lush grass growth.

Pasture quality is improved immensely when clovers comprise 50 percent or more of the plants in the pasture. Red clover, ladino clover and alfalfa are excellent for pasture. Keep the clovers in the pastures and prevent grasses from dominating the pasture. Alfalfa, red clover and ladino clover provide quality in the forage which means more milk produced or more pounds of beef gain per day. Pastures can provide excellent sources of forage if managed properly. Don't let your pastures grow wild, manage them to get good livestock production.

Check for Alfalfa Weevils Now!

From now through early May, alfalfa growers should scout for alfalfa weevils. It is important for growers to scout fields at regular intervals-at least once a week. This is not a situation where a grower can walk through a field one time and decide whether or not there's a problem. Surveys thus far indicate we will have an average year in terms of alfalfa weevils. Alfalfa growers should consider three factors-plant height, number of larvae, and degree days-in scouting fields to determine if insect numbers have reached an economic threshold to spray. To determine the number of larvae, growers should cut 30 stems from each field, count the total number of larvae. Use the scouting procedure outlined in "Insecticide Recommendations for Alfalfa (ENT-17) available at the Lincoln County Extension Office. The degree days have already accumulated enough to trigger weevil activity, so begin scouting now.

Ezell chosen as Dell Scholar

On Thursday, April 10, The Michael & Susan Dell Foundation announced its 11th class of Dell Scholars, providing 300 students with the chance to obtain a college degree. The program offers resources and mentoring, in addition to financial assistance, to ensure underserved students have the comprehensive support needed to successfully earn a bachelor's degree. To be eligible for the program, students must be part of a college access program such as Upward Bound.

Eastern Kentucky University Upward Bound student Justice Ezell, a senior at Lincoln County High School, was the only student in Kentucky to be selected as a Dell Scholar. Justice has been an active member of EKU Upward Bound for three years and has served on its Executive Board and Scholar's Bowl team. Justice plans to attend EKU and has been accepted into the EKU Honors Program.

To date the Dell Scholars program has helped a total of 867 students complete college with a degree in hand while another 1,650 are currently working toward graduation. Since the program's inception, the Michael & Susan Dell Foundation has awarded $63.9 million in scholarships, which includes $20,000 and essential technology for each Dell Scholar.

EKU's Upward Bound program, funded by the United States Department of Education, has served first-generation high school students from Casey, Estill, Jackson, Lee, Lincoln, Powell and Wolfe counties for more than 46 years.

Meek wins essay contest

A Crab Orchard Elementary School student was selected Lincoln's county winner in the "2013-2014 Grandparent of the Year" essay contest sponsored by AARP Kentucky and the Kentucky Retired Teachers' Association (KRTA).

Marshall Meek is among thousands of Kentucky fifth graders who participated in the 13th Annual Essay competition for 2013-2014. Students submitted essays answering why "My Grandparent should be the AARP Kentucky Grandparent of the Year" to their fifth grade teachers who select the school's winner. Each participating school winner and school receives recognition certificates. Lincoln's school winners are Lilly VanWinkle, McKinney; Allison Westerfield, Hustonville; Josey Norden, Stanford; and Isiah Murphy, Waynesburg.

As county winner, Marshall received a framed certificate for his efforts. He also received a $25 gift card from the Lincoln County Retired Teacher's Association and Mr. Jameson Cable, Marshall's Language Arts teacher from Crab Orchard also received a $50 gift card to use in his classroom.

The "AARP Grandparent of the Year" essay contest is organized by the local Retired Teacher Association units and AARP Chapters, who help secure local school participation, promote the activity and serve as local contest judges.

Marshall's essay is as follows. He wrote about his Poppa, Roger Meek.

My Poppa

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help," is my Poppa's favorite scripture. It comes from Psalms 121. I guess he likes it because he was raised in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. "This is God's country," he would always say when we visited family there. "See how the mountains reach toward Heaven," he would comment as he teased me.

My Poppa loves the outdoors. He always takes me out on the farm. He taught me how to bottle-feed a baby calf. Sometimes, he even lets me drive the tractor when we are working in the hay. We also play in the creek and walk through the woods. He does a hayride with my brother, my cousins, my friends and me every year. That is so much fun! Sometimes, we sleep in a tent overnight at the back of the farm. Poppa is always patient and kind with us as we gather firewood and build a big roaring fire. Have you ever tasted roasted hot dogs? They are great!

Poppa was a teacher in high school, a basketball coach and was even a principal. He did this for thirty years before he retired. He always loved working with kids. He also loved coaching high school basketball. He was named to a basketball hall of fame in Kentucky and also one in Ohio for being so successful in this sport. He has taken teams to play in the state tournament before.

My dad said that Poppa was always an easy-going, low-key basketball coach. He loves coaching kids so much that he is still coaching a fifth grade little league basketball team. Guess what? I am on the team.

My Poppa is faithful to God. Every Sunday morning, I sit in the same pew with him at church. Sometimes, we sing from the same songbook or he will scoot over, so I can see the words on the big screen up front. I have heard my Poppa pray. He always has good prayers. He even went on a mission trip to Jamaica. He played sports with the kids.

Poppa loves working in the community. He works with the Cattlemen's Association. He is always cooking steaks and hamburgers for schools, clubs, and meetings. He travels with the cattlemen to other places to learn new things about the farm. Someday, I hope to go with him and learn, also.

My Poppa always stands out in a crowd, and it is not because he is over six feet tall. He stands out because he is faithful to God and loves God's creations. He is kind, patient and easy-going. He is not selfish and gives his time to others, including me. He is a hard-worker. As you can see, my Poppa has many wonderful characteristics. That is why he should be the "AARP Grandparent of the Year."

Stuart Powell's MONTH of MUSTANGS – celebrating 50 years of the Ford Mustang

In '64, Ford (and Stuart Powell) introduced the Mustang to the world – and to Alice Pingleton!

April 17, 1964. That date obviously has a lot of significance for Ford Mustang enthusiasts. But none more than for a 23-year-old young lady from Garrard County, Alice Pingleton. That was the day she bought an orange 1964 1/2 – the first Mustang sold by Stuart Powell.

50 YEARS

Alice and Stuart met again to reminisce about that time – a meaningful year for both. "I sure remember you and that orange Mustang!", said Mr. Powell. Ford was not only introducing a new and revolutionary model, but the same could be said for the colors. "Practically every weekend, my sisters and I would come over to Danville in it. That car got me – and us – noticed!" Mrs. Ray said. To read more about their experience, past and present, visit our Facebook page using the QR code below.

Alice Pingleton Ray. Today, Mrs. Ray recalls she loved the white interior just as much as the orange exterior. George Dailey, a customer of Mr. Powell's at the time introduced Alice to Mr. Powell – and to the Mustang that would become hers. "I loved it the minute I saw it!"
